

Inspirational Emails

Wake up and smell the. . .

God Nuggets, Issue 9

*The what? The coffee? Of course that's a metaphor for "waking up" to whatever we may be oblivious to. It's a reminder to be alert to the people, places and situations that constitute our environment at any given moment.

Likewise, we should "wake up" and notice that each week brings with it new challenges as well as fresh opportunities.

What's going on with the people around you? (family, friends, co-workers, business associates, etc.) What are their hurts, grievances, misunderstandings, and challenges? Where do they need a reprimand, clearer instruction, forgiveness, congratulations, encouragement, etc.? Who needs a hug...or a spanking?

What challenges need to be cleared up or prepared for? What opportunities have opened up?

Get a fresh start on your week by "waking up" to the world around you.
